Collins Stewart strengthens sales team with two senior appointments

Collins Stewart is pleased to announce the strengthening of its sales team in the London office with the appointment of two salesmen who join from Evolution Securities. Fraser Marshall joins Collins Stewart as Head of Smaller Company Sales and Donald Brown takes up the role of Managing Director of Smaller Company Sales.

Fraser is a founder of Evolution, where he was a member of the Board. He headed up a 23 strong sales team covering trading in UK small, mid and large cap companies and also European trading in UK stocks. He previously worked at Dresdner Kleinwort Wasserstein before which he was a member of the British Army. Donald has focused on small and mid cap sales throughout his career. At Evolution he was Head of Growth Sales covering small cap UK stocks. Prior to that, he was Head of Small and Mid Cap Sales at Credit Suisse and also Dresdner Kleinwort Wasserstein. Donald also has experience as a fund manager.
